BREAST RECONSTRUCTION SURGERY WITH 97% SUCCESS RATE.

Losing a breast can have a severe impact on women. A mastectomy means not only losing part of the body, but part of one's identity. It is often a devastating change in a woman's life. But now, there is a way to restore the body and the spirit. After undergoing mastectomy, women can now choose to undergo a Microvascular Free Flap (MFF) Surgery.

MFF Surgery is a highly viable surgery (with 95 to 97% success rate) that can create a new breast with an incredibly natural look and feel. The surgery can be performed immediately after a mastectomy or even later – either way, the results are equally positive and empowering.

At Cytecure, we have expert oncologists and reconstruction specialists with expertise in advanced microsurgical techniques. Let us join hands and help you regain confidence.
